THE LIFE OF A STAY AT HOME DAD

It's 2018, and time for Dads to start smashing those gender stereotypes!

Back in 2015 when my wife returned to work after having our first child, I resigned from my job, and took on the role of primary caregiver. Not only was it a huge shock adjusting to the needs of a 6 month old child, but taking on traditionally female responsibilities has given me a whole new level of respect for those super mums out there!

Head to the following link if you want to follow my adventures via 'The Life of a Stay at Home Dad' on Facebook.
